Qualification to Serve as a Neutral Dispute Resolver:

My involvement on both sides of the docket in various civil trials, arbitrations, mediations, and administrative hearings has given me essential insight into the challenges faced by counsel and parties in complex and highly-contested matters. I have served as advocate, mediator, arbitrator, and hearing officer in more than 400 alternative dispute resolution settings. My accounting and business background and transactional experiences are useful in document-intensive disputes and those involving financial and accounting issues. My varied experiences as an arbitrator, mediator, and in presiding over due process hearings have provided me the necessary training and education to act as a neutral to help parties resolve their disputes. More than thirty-seven years in private legal practice and twenty-one years serving as a neutral have convinced me that an authoritative, properly-trained, and experienced neutral is essential to each side's having the best opportunity to present its claims and defenses in an arbitration or fair hearing setting to achieve a proper result in a timely fashion. My formal training through the American Arbitration Association, American Health Lawyers Association, and Financial Industry Regulatory Authority enables me to use varied skills and techniques to assist the parties in resolving disputes through arbitration or as a mediator in a facilitative, analytical, or evaluative manner (using one or more combinations of those approaches), depending on the underlying circumstances and the parties' intentions. I have extensive experience in resolving discovery disputes, ruling on pre-hearing dispositive motions, coupled with a thorough understanding of state and federal civil rules of procedure and rules of evidence. I encourage individuals who are considering me as someone to either represent them or to provide alternative dispute resolution services to contact any one or more of the persons either listed as references in my resume, Tarrant County State or Federal Judges, or Tarrant County Attorneys to obtain additional information and insight into my qualifications and prior experiences.
